

Google acquires DoubleClick

Author: Tim Dickinson<tim@adbalance.com>

Google has reportedly spent $3.1 billion to acquire DoubleClick access of their ad serving solution and most importantly their long established and large network of clients. This gives Google a great ad serving platform, but most importantly for them keeps these clients away from migrating on DoubleClick and are launching their own advertising products.

More Information >>