

Adregate Launched

Author: Tim Dickinson<tim@adbalance.com>

Adregate, the new ad management and serving web application that we have been following since early beta, has just launched. It was developed as a replacement for all the other monolithic and bloated ad management and serving applications out there, and has a free version available for smaller sites with paid plans for those with more traffic.